

Spotlight on CalPERS Health Data Strategy & Research

Summary of Discussion

Jared Shinabery will present a new data strategy for the CalPERS Health Program designed to unlock the potential of CalPERS' health care data to accelerate innovation and continuous improvement in the quality, accessibility, affordability, and equity of care for our members.

David Cowling will provide an overview of research and evaluation that is conducted to better understand CalPERS' health care benefit strategies and members and improve the delivery of health care. This includes a review of past research and evaluation into value-based purchasing and healthcare price transparency tools, along with current projects on high-cost members experience and telehealth quality.
