

Perspectives on Infrastructure Investing

Summary of Discussion

Infrastructure is a growing and evolving asset class and has attracted greater interest from institutional investors. The definition of infrastructure is not homogeneous to every participant. Further, hurdles exist around scaling and garnering opportunities in certain regions or sectors – in particular, the US. Today, we will discuss these issues with two market leaders from Global Infrastructure Partners (GIP) and Queensland Investment Corporation (QIC).
